

Discord Ordinance

This Ordinance States

Effective September 2017

The Villoux Server System recognizes the voice over Internet protocol program Discord as the system's primary program for communications. Villoux will operate one Discord server to serve as the predominate base of communications for the system known as "Villoux's Discord Server". Villoux's Discord Server is considered a server property of Villoux's Discord Operation Department; therefore, the Executive Discord Operator as head of the Discord Operation Department shall additionally serve as Discord Server Head of Villoux's Discord Server and is regarded as the top authority on Villoux's Discord Server. All users on Villoux's Discord Server will be added to the "User" role once they have verified their account with the Villoux Operator Bot.

Section 1 - General Information

Weebly Clause

Effective September 2017

The Discord Ordinance will be fully accessible to every user in Villoux due to the nature of the ordinance's clauses directly outlining the behavioral expectations of all users on Villoux's Discord Server. Lingual Clause

Effective September 2017

The Lingual Ordinance of the Villoux Bill of Ordinances outlines English, French, and Portuguese as the official languages of the Villoux Server System. Users whom are unable to communicate in the aforementioned languages are found automatically guilty of any charge made against them.

Mony459 Clause

Effective September 2017

The Villoux Server System considers a "system ban" the ultimate punishment within the system. A system ban is a permanent ban from all Villoux owned or operated servers, guilds, tournaments, events, groups, and other properties. System banned users are therefore strictly prohibited from connecting to Villoux's Discord Server and should be issued an indefinite ban for "Ban Evading" in the event they manage to ban evade on the Discord server. The Villoux Chief of Staff should be immediately notified of any such ban evasion. A complete list of system banned users can be found on Villoux's website and any new system bans will be noted in the Discord Operation Newsletter and further information about system bans can be found in the System Ban Ordinance.

Biko Clause

Effective August 2019

Discord's terms of service apply on Villoux's Discord Server. It is the responsibility of the Executive Discord Operator to ensure the Discord Ordinance and the Discord Operation Department adhere to and enforce Discord's terms of service, especially when they are not otherwise noted in the Discord Ordinance.

Discord automatically assigns a unique client number to every Discord account. Any user whom changes their primary Discord account should make the change known to the Villoux Chief of Staff by submitting a Discord Client Number Change Form.

Section 2 - Channel Information

BaitWizard Clause

Effective September 2017

Villoux's Discord Server will offer categories to separate and organize the voice and text channels on the server. The system's government, each of the system's gaming departments, the Misc. Gaming Section division of the System Press Department, the Board of Executives' staff, and the Radio Villoux division of the System Press Department will all be granted categories on the server. The categories will be listed with the Villoux Government category first followed by each of the gaming departments based on size in the last system census, the Misc. Gaming category, the Villoux Staff category, and the Radio Villoux category. Users are recommended to collapse or mute categories which are not of interest to them, e.g. the Villoux Staff category for users whom do not serve in the system's staff.

System Census Clause

Effective September 2017

Departments which have the same number of users defined in a system census will have their categories listed alphabetically. The misc. gaming category will not change location based on the results of system censuses, regardless of if the Misc. Gaming section has more users defined than a gaming department.

Public Text Channels Clause

Effective September 2017

The Villoux Server System defines "public text channels" as any text channel without role-restrictive connectivity. Villoux's Discord Server will offer at least one public text channel for each of the server's categories, except the Villoux Government category. Most public text channels will use "general" as an identifier for the channel, e.g. "osu_general", whereas private text channels will use "staff" or "announcements" to denote the private nature of the channel. Only pertinent content to each category should be posted in its respective text channel. Spamming or posting any content that is deemed inappropriate by other clauses in this ordinance will result in a ban for the appropriate duration. #misc_gaming is considered the "general" text channel for Villoux overall.

All Discord text channels, public and private, will be sorted into their respective categories. #villoux_announcements will be the default text channel under the Villoux Government category and all other text channels will be sorted into categories based on their respective category's standing in Villoux.

Villoux Announcements Clause

#villoux_announcements is used to distribute pertinent information about system's events and services to the public. It will be the default text channel on Villoux's Discord Server but posting in #villoux_announcements is restricted to approval granted by the Executive Discord Operator or the Villoux Chief of Staff. Grand Council Members and senior staff members are the only users whom should ever post in #villoux_announcements; however, users whom previously served in one of the aforementioned roles but have since left the system shall not have their messages deleted from the channel.

Appropriate content for #villoux_announcements includes: greetings and well-wishes on behalf of the Villoux Server System for system-recognized holidays and actively serving Grand Council Members' birthdays; warnings from platform publishers about security risks associated with games or applications Villoux sponsors; event registration information and updates from Villoux's gaming departments; staff hiring requests; messages from the Executive Discord Operator regarding Villoux's Discord Server; information regarding Radio Villoux events; information regarding the Misc. Gaming Section; announcements from Villoux's government; advertisement links promoted by the System Press Department; and updates regarding the gaming departments' servers.

Villoux Calendar Clause

Effective January 2020

#villoux_calendar is used to display a calendar with a complete list of events being sponsored by Villoux in the coming month. Reminders about these events will be posted in #villoux_announcements as appropriate, but users can view a full month's calendar by viewing this text channel. The Villoux Chief of Staff is the only user authorized to post in this channel.

Villoux Information Clause

Effective June 2019

#villoux_information is used to display pertinent information about the system and its services. Information in the form of messages will list general information about Villoux's Discord Server, including a link to the Discord Ordinance on Villoux's website, and links to Villoux's Facebook page, Steam group, website, and TeamSpeak server. Each gaming department will also be listed with pertinent links and information for the respective department. The Villoux Chief of Staff is the only user authorized to post in this channel.

Private Text Channels Clause

Effective September 2017

The Villoux Server System defines "private text channels" as text channels wherein only certain roles may view the messages within the text channel. Villoux's Discord Server will offer private text channels for members of system staff and server staff whom need a forum to communicate privately. The Grand Council, the House of Players, and the Baskerville Cabinet will be granted private text channels under the Villoux Government category and the Discord Operation Department, the System Coding Department, and the System Press Department will be granted private text channels under the Villoux Staff category. Users who have been added to the "Banned" role on Villoux's Discord Server will only be able to view #banned_console, which contains a message explaining they have been temporarily banned from using the server until their ban expires. Any additional private text channels will be granted at the discretion of the Executive Discord Operator and the Villoux Chief of Staff. Private text channels may only be accessed by appropriate users and any user accessing a private text channel in which they are not permitted may be charged with "Trespassing". The Villoux Grand Council and the Discord Operation Department will have permission to view every private channel in order to monitor them, though they are subject to charges of “Trespassing” if they abuse their permissions to send messages in text channels in which they would not otherwise have permission to send messages or “Distribution of Private Information” if they discuss the content of said text channels. The Discord Operation Department will not have access to view #grand_council.

Public Voice Channels Clause

Effective September 2017

The Villoux Server System defines “public voice channels” as any voice channel without role-restrictive connectivity. Villoux’s Discord Server will offer at least one public voice channel for each of the server’s categories, except the Villoux Government category. Public voice channels are granted to all gaming departments sponsored by Villoux, the Misc. Gaming Section division of the System Press Department, and the Radio Villoux division of the System Press Department. Public voice channels may be used for any general, off-topic conversation until a user joins the channel that is actively playing what the channel sponsors. All off-topic conversations should be moved to a different public channel once a user that is actively playing the game sponsored by the channel joins. The Misc. Gaming voice channel serves as the general public voice channel on the server and may host any form of conversation. Public voice channels may not have restricted connectivity, edited voice activity, or have access to any other aspects of Discord’s advanced permissions.

Private Voice Channels Clause

Effective September 2017

The Villoux Server System defines “private voice channels” as any voice channel wherein only certain roles may connect to and or see the voice channel. Private voice channels are divided into four categories: user private voice channels, staff voice channels, group voice channels, and government voice channels. No form of private voice channels will be granted to users who do not meet the requirements outlined this clause.

User private voice channels are granted to all Server Heads and Grand Council Members. All user private voice channels are named “<Username>’s Private Channel”. Gaming department staff’s user private voice channels are placed under the appropriate category for each respective Department

Chairmen and Server Head, Executives' user private voice channels are placed under their respective staff's staff voice channel in the Villoux Staff category, and the Villoux Chief of Staff's user private voice channel is placed under the Villoux Government category.

Staff voice channels are private channels used by the system's staff to hold staff meetings, discuss ongoing projects, and interview prospective staff members. Staff channels are granted to each department under the Board of Executives in the Villoux Staff category.

Group voice channels are granted to groups that meet and maintain the requirements set forth in the Discord Ordinance.

Government voice channels are channels used by the Villoux Server System for official government business such as House of Players meetings and Grand Council meetings. Government voice channels are the most private channels on Villoux's Discord Server; therefore, any user found in a government voice channel without proper permission will be prosecuted with a Discord ban for "Trespassing".

DuXaaa Clause

Effective August 2019

All members of the Discord Operation Department and the Villoux Grand Council will be granted permission to view all private text channels but will only be granted permission to type into text channels relating to their position, though their authority is still fluid in the text channels in which they cannot type. The Executive Discord Operator and the Villoux Chief of Staff are granted permission to type into all text channels.

NolanEaston Clause

Effective September 2017

User private voice channels are to be used for the owner of the channel's idling, brief discussion of private information, holding staff meetings, or for issuing user punishment. User private voice channels are not to be used for idle chitchat, non-system related matters, or personal discussions.

InstaPwn Clause

Effective September 2017

Private voice channels of Grand Council Members may be used to engage in gaming events of games sponsored by the system that require strategic planning in order to provide a peaceful atmosphere where users may not cause burdens; however, once the event is over, the users should leave the private voice channel. It should be noted that this clause affects only private voice channels, not staff or government channels.

Orcrypt Clause

Effective September 2017

Villoux Realm of the Mad God guilds will be granted one private voice channel and one private text channel on Villoux's Discord Server, pursuant to the Cronus Clause of the Realm of the Mad God Ordinance. The guild channels will be sorted alphabetically. Guilds with voice channels that regularly reaches fifteen users at a given time in their voice may have their Realm of the Mad God Guild Master request a secondary guild voice channel. Appropriate secondary channel names include: Dungeon Runs Channel, Guild Leaders Channel, Recruitment Channel, and Trading Channel. Approval from first the Realm of the Mad God Department Chairman and then either the Executive Discord Operator or the Villoux Chief of Staff must be granted for any channel other than the aforementioned. Additional secondary voice channels may be granted for each increment of five users regularly in the guilds channel's traffic. It is the responsibility of the Realm of the Mad God Department Chairman to report the activity of each group to the Chief of Staff in order to ensure proper administration.

Each Realm of the Mad God Guild Master will be granted a role specific to their guild. The Guild Master will then be eligible to add all of their guild's members to a Discord role specific to their guild, though it should be noted that this role does not reflect an actual staff position within the system. Members of Discord Operation Department, the Realm of the Mad God Department Chairman, or the Villoux Chief of Staff may also add guild members to this role if they verify the user is in the guild via RealmEye. It should also be noted that the Guild Masters and members have the ability to join all guild channels, but the only channels they should join without invitation are their own guild channels.

EggTech Clause

Effective September 2017

The Realm of the Mad God category on Villoux's Discord Server offers a private voice channel to groups of users whom wish to rune private tombs, dungeons, shatters, and other events in Realm of the Mad God, the "Dungeon Running Channel", pursuant to the EggTech Clause of the Realm of the Mad God Ordinance. The Dungeon Running Channel may only be used by groups of at least two users to run private dungeons on production Realm of the Mad God. Only users participating in the event may join the channel and users must vacate the channel once the event is over. Use of the channel operates of a first come first serve basis and any Realm of the Mad God Department-sponsored event maintains first rights to use the channel, even if other users are currently occupying it. Users whom meet these standards may contact a Realm of the Mad God Dungeon Master, member of the Discord Operation Department, the Realm of the Mad God Department Chairman, or the Executive Discord Operator to utilize the channel.

The channels may be used for gameplay or casual chit-chat but may not host a number of users far exceeding the number of team members in the channel. Teams which neglect to maintain these standards will be granted one week to achieve the standards again. All of the teams' channels will be deleted if the teams fail to return to Villoux standards in one week.

Each team captain will be granted a role specific to their team. The team captain will then be eligible to add all of their team's members to a role specific to their team, though it should be noted that neither team captain nor member of the team reflect an actual staff position within the system. Members of Discord Operation Department, the League of Legends Department Chairman, or the Villoux Chief of Staff may also add team members to this role. It should also be noted that team

Users issued department bans will be assigned a role called "Department Banned from X" with "X" replaced with the respective department. This role prohibits the user from entering voice and text channels within their banned department's category on Discord. It is the responsibility of Department Chairmen to report department banned users to the Executive Discord Operator and it is the responsibility of the Executive Discord Operator to keep the Discord Operation Department informed of all active department bans via the Discord Operation Newsletter.

Section 4 - Bot Information

Cronus Clause

Effective September 2017

Villoux's Discord Server employs the use of automated clients referred to as "bots" to execute various functions across the Discord server. Any user may request for a bot to be installed, but it is ultimately the discretion of the Executive Discord Operator upon the advice of the Villoux Chief of Staff to decide which bots will be utilized by the server. Bots which can be used by anyone can be accessed via any text channel. All bots will be assigned the role "Discord Bot" on Villoux's Discord Server. Bots' nicknames will state the bot's name followed by a space and "Bot". Bots will have a gear emoji next to their username rather than a flag emoji. It should be noted the Villoux Server System did not create all bots employed by its Discord server nor does it have control over the bots' avatars, custom statuses, or messages.

Each bot on the Villoux Discord server will have a clause named after it in this section explaining the bot's purpose in Villoux, whom may access the bot, and the commands necessary to utilize the bot. All bots have a "prefix", which is a symbol used to preface commands and direct them to the proper bot. Accessing any features of a bot not directly discussed in its respective clause will be considered an “Abuse of Permissions”.

Clyde Bot Clause

Effective October 2017

Clyde Bot is the default bot that assists Discord users and is present on every Discord server, including Villoux’s Discord Server, though it is not displayed in the client list. It is responsible for notifying users when they try to attempt something unsupported by Discord and basic administrative functions. The Villoux Server System has no control or influence over this bot.

Villoux Operator Bot Clause

Effective October 2017

The Discord Operator Bot is used to verify users, set ban durations, and perform other administrative functions on Villoux’s Discord Server. The bot is nicknamed “Villoux Operator Bot” (V.O.B.) on Villoux’s Discord Server. V.O.B.’s prefix is “-”. V.O.B. sends a welcome message to all new users who join Villoux’s Discord Server explaining how to verify their account on the Discord server to be added to the “User” role. Users type “-verify <username> <country code>” without the quotation marks or brackets in #verification_console in order to verify their accounts.

Members of the Discord Operation Department and Grand Council Members are the only users eligible to utilize V.O.B.’s administrative functions and are granted access to do so by being added to the “Villoux Operator Bot User” role on Villoux’s Discord Server to utilize its functionalities. It should be noted this bot replaces the default protocol for the Discord application’s ban. V.O.B. is grouped in the Discord Operation Department role rather than the Discord Bot role since it has administrator privileges. The command to ban a user is: -ban <Discord ID> <#> <hours/day> <reason>” without quotation marks or the brackets. Discord’s developer mode must be enabled on the client-side in order to copy user’s Discord IDs. All V.O.B. commands should be typed in #vob_command_console. V.O.B. will then add the user to the “Banned” role, which restricts the user from connecting to any voice channels and viewing or sending messages in any text channels without removing them from the Discord server outright. The banner will then format a ban report in #vob_command_console. The banner should then use the IFarmy Clause of this ordinance to format a Discord ban report using the command -banreport. V.O.B. will then prompt the user with the ban report commands, “-banreport <#> <reporter> <Discord ID>” is used for the reporter of the banned, “-banreport <#> <description>” is used to type a brief description of the events leading to the ban, and, finally, “-banreport <#> submit” is used to submit the ban report, which will be posted by V.O.B. as a message in #discord_ban_reports. Ban reports should be submitted immediately after a ban is issued. V.O.B. will remove the user from the banned role and reassign any previous roles once the ban has expired.

Other V.O.B. commands include:

1. “-elly”, which lists the ban durations for every charge
2. “-help banreport”, which lists the commands used to submit a ban report;
3. “-banreason <charge>”, which provides the clause in the Discord Ordinance for the requested charge, e.g. “-banreason Trolling” will display the LordJHary Clause of the Discord Ordinance and “-banreason” can be used to list all charges;
4. “-help”, which lists all V.O.B. commands
