TeamSpeak Regulations as Read by Phil

Good evening my fellow members of the House of Players, and welcome to this 10th meeting. I would now like to take this time to discuss Villoux's TeamSpeak 3 server. We have much happening on TeamSpeak, and in order to keep up with all of the latest events, I would recommend that everyone read their TeamSpeak connection message that is initially received upon connecting onto Villoux's TeamSpeak server. This list will hold the dates of all upcoming meetings, tournaments, server launch dates, and system-sponsored events. In order for more immediate information, I recommend that you like Villoux's Facebook page. The link to Villoux's Facebook page can be found by clicking Villoux's server banner on TeamSpeak. In regards to the server's traffic, I am pleased to report that traffic has increased on weekdays by 5%. Top channel contributors have been the League of Legends' North American channel and the Minecraft server channel for Snowflake Pixelmon. I would to thank those channel's channel staff for a great job. I would like to note that the meeting dates for Villoux's 2013 House of Players have been posted in the channel description. As a reminder, the House does not meet in December. Before we get too much further into the meeting, I would like to take a brief moment to discuss proper House etiquette. At no time should anyone type into the public House of Players channel, disconnect during the middle of another person speaking, or poke the person speaking. Please remember this manners throughout the course of tonight's meeting. This hereby ends Villoux's TeamSpeak updates, and without further ado, I would like to welcome the honorable Villoux Chief of Staff, Department Chairman of the Minecraft Department, Chairman Committee Speaker, and Drug Craft Server Head, Dr. Baskerville to the stand to discuss the system's Minecraft Department.

Minecraft Update as Read by Dr. Baskerville

Good evening my fellow House of Players members. As Villoux's Minecraft Department Chairman, I am pleased to announce the system's largest department's status. Our Minecraft Department has taken a large step towards improvement. Since last month, Villoux's Minecraft servers Craft of the Titans and Basic Craft have launched. Both servers are doing relatively well and have begun to bring in a Team Speak user base. I am pleased to announce that I plan for Villoux's latest launching Minecraft server, Drug Craft, to be released this upcoming Friday. Drug Craft will launch tomorrow for Villoux Beta-Testing, and should be released to the public sometime next month. Villoux's Snowflake Pixelmon server has continued to act as the system's most active server and easily provides the system with a Team Speak user base. The system's other two servers, New-Age Craft and Izvorni Craft, will be ready to apply to the House and Chairman Committee in January of next year. The system's two private servers, Rag Craft and the System Building Server, continue to prove to be useful. Our System Building server has continued to server as an outlet to our Builder's creative juices. The System Building Server is open every Saturday at 12PM US Central for the Minecraft Server Heads to examine and select buildings for their servers. The private server, Rag Craft, is still under construction, but is planned for a release in July of 2013. This hereby concludes the Minecraft Department's update. I will now take any questions, comments, or concerns in regards to Villoux's Minecraft Department.

I thank you for listening, and I will speak with you again for the closing ceremonies.

TRANSITION:

Thank you for that update, Dr. Baskerville. The House will now move to the Grand Council Member, Realm of the Mad God Department Chairman, and Guild Master of Villoux's 8bit Death Guild, Flosion.

Realm of the Mad God Update as Read by Flosion

Hello everyone, my name is Flosion, and I am the Realm of the Mad God Department Head.

Recently, Realm of the Mad God was bought by a company named Kabam. This acquisition scared many users, as we did not know in what direction Kabam was going to take the game. With their early decisions, it seemed that they were focusing on quantity, and not quality. The first few builds were very buggy, and many players expressed their raw opinions on the forums. In short, many people hated Kabam. But slowly, Kabam began to listen to the players, and many things were fixed. But a crisis came about when a player found a way to modify hex codes with a cheating client, and purchase un-released items with Realm Gold (which every player starts with 100 of). This was a very big crisis in which people spawned in tons of over-powered items during a 3 hour span. This caused many of the older players to quit the game cold turkey and move on. But Kabam came to the rescue, banning all accounts that spawned items (They determined this by looking at the purchase records of all accounts). Amulets saw a record low price of $0.10 a piece, merely 1% of their previous price. Through all of this, many Amulet of Resurrections were spawned and duped, and in response, Kabam made all Amulets no longer resurrect you. This made many new players very angry, because all they have known is very cheap amulets, and basically infinite lives. But older players saw this as a godsend. A once perma-death game, was made into an infinite life game through the abuse of an exploit, but was once again a perma-death game.

Through all of the duping and spawning crisis, Realm of the Mad God saw a drastic decrease in players. But when the game became perma-death again, many players began to come back. And now, Kabam is doing a great job with the game, adding quality content, as well as making the game fun again.

In all of this, the Eight Bit Death Guild has remained strong, within the top 50 guilds, and has enjoyed the community on Teamspeak. Recently, Eight Bit Death II was created, to house the more inexperienced, and to train them up to be great Realm players. The leadership of MiketheD, Ryen, Normerra, and myself have proven great, and Eight Bit Death is still running strong.

Thank you for that update, Flosion. I will now open the floor to any questions, comments, or concerns in regards to Villoux's Realm of the Mad God Department. If you wish to vocalize a question, comment, or concern in regards to Villoux's Realm Department please send me a private message at this point. Again, this should be a private message, not a message sent into the House of Players channel.

I do wish you and our Realm community luck in future expansions. At this time, I would like to welcome the Department Chairman of Team Fortress 2, Mixizm, to the stand to deliver the update on Villoux's TF2 Department.

Thank you for that update, Mixizm. I will now open the floor to any questions, comments, or concerns in regards to Villoux's Team Fortress 2 Department. If you wish to vocalize a question, comment, or concern in regards to Villoux's TF2 Department please send me a private message at this point. Again, this should be a private message, not a message sent into the House of Players channel.

Thank you for that update, Mixizm, and may you and your department have good luck. Also, congratulations to the System Host, Capta1nTurtles, for being named champion of Villoux's last Team Fortress 2 Tournament! We will now move to the League of Legends Department update as read by Villoux's League Department Chairman, Herc.

Thank you for that update, Herc. I will now open the floor to any questions, comments, or concerns in regards to Villoux's League Department. If you wish to vocalize a question, comment, or concern in regards to Villoux's League Department please send me a private message at this point. Again, this should be a private message, not a message sent into the House of Players channel.

I appreciate your update, Herc. We will now move to the System Builder, Donut Bomber's application for the Minecraft Tekkit Server, Techno Craft.

Techno Craft Application as Read by Donut Bomber

Hi, I'm DonutBomber. I'm here to talk about Techno Craft. Techno Craft is planned to be a Factions, Pvp Tekkit server. Our server will encourage raiding and tolerate griefing. Most of you are probably thinking, "Just another Tekkit server to add to the list" but you're wrong. Techno Craft offers many different aspects to Tekkit that Rise of Nations does not. Like Rise of Nations, we hope to have a great community and to dedicate ourselves to improving our server's gameplay each day. I personally plan to be on every day to keep the server running correctly and keep racist people, spammers, hackers, and other rule breakers from ruining the gameplay for other players. Now what sets us apart from Rise of Nations is that we offer more Tekkit items. We'll leave EE open to everyone which a lot of servers don't allow. Rise of Nations is based around a Human vs. Aliens RPG, whereas Techno Craft focuses more on a casual Factions Pvp with EE enabled. With both servers offering different aspects of Tekkit, they can co-exist easily while appealing to every player's wants in a Tekkit server. I really hope you all like the idea of Techno Craft and vote for what I believe to be a great addition for Villoux. Thank you.

Thank you for that introduction, Mr. Donut Bomber. We will now move to a period of open questions, comments, and concerns. If you wish to vocalize a question, comment, or concern in regards to this Minecraft server before the voting period, please send me a private message.

With those support and opposition speeches being said, we will now move to a period of voting on the application of this Minecraft server to the Villoux Server System. We will handle the voting process by having the honorable Villoux Chief of Staff, Dr. Baskerville, calling your name and asking your vote. Please note, the only acceptable responses are "In Favor, Opposed, and Abstained." Please do not use the terms, "yes, no, or neutral". We will now begin the voting period.

Closing Ceremonies as Read by Dr. Baskerville

Good evening yet again, my House. As this meeting draws to a close, I am pleased to announce the closing ceremonies. First of all, I would like to announce the winner of this month's Friend of Villoux Award. This user has served diligently throughout his occupation on the system and has not given up despite being presented with numerous difficulties that no one else in his position has ever had to face. It pleases me to award this month's Friend of Villoux Award to the Minecraft Server Head, Elefalcon. Mr. Falcon, please speak with me after the meeting to receive your prize. I would like to thank this meeting's master of ceremonies, the Executive Team Speak Operator, Phil. You did an excellent job, my friend. I would additionally like to thank all of Villoux's other Executives, Council Members, Department Chairmen, and all members of the House for continuing to provide Villoux with such a magnificent atmosphere. I would like now to recognize those members of the system who can now state that they have been with the system for one year's time: The TeamSpeak Helper alch2, The Lyllox Representative Pjxxx1128, The League of Legends Tournament Director TheHatchling, The Team Fortress 2 Server Head Shukaksuru, The Grand Council Veteran ZdPanthr, and The Executive System Press Officer 48and87rock. Since the House will not meet in December, I would at this time like to recognize those users who celebrate their one year anniversary with the system that month: The Baskerville Advisor Cheezcake117 and the Grand Council Member Smudd. Celebrating three years in the system next month will be: myself, Dr. Baskerville, the Villoux Chief of Staff, The Executive System Coder Veteran Sullivan, the System Art Designer BillehRoot, The Baskerville Assistant mason917061, The Baskerville Assistant DrToadley, and the Executive IRC Operator Veteran elly. I do thank those users for their loyalty to the system throughout our history. Without further ado, I, Dr. Baskerville, do hereby label this 10th meeting of Villoux's House of Players adjourned!
